Read the story given below and underline the correct answer.

One day, a farmer was looking for a water source for his farm, when he bought a well from his neighbour. The neighbour, however, was cunning. The next day, as the farmer came to draw water from his well, the neighbour refused to let him take any water.

When the farmer asked why, the neighbour replied, “I sold you the well, not the water,” and walked away. Distraught, the farmer went to the emperor to ask for justice. He explained what had happened.

The emperor called on Birbal, one of his nine, and wisest, courtiers. Birbal proceeded to question the neighbour, “Why don’t you let the farmer take water from the well? You did sell the well to the farmer?”

The neighbour replied, “Birbal, I did sell the well to the farmer but not the water within it. He has no right to draw water from the well.”

Birbal said, “Look, since you sold the well, you have no right to keep the water in the farmer’s well. Either you pay rent to the farmer, or take it out immediately.” Realizing that his scheme had failed, the neighbour apologized and went home.

Test – 11

Read the following paragraphs. Select the most suitable caption for each paragraph and write the letter of the caption in the brackets given against the paragraph. There is one extra caption.

Animal world is diverse.

Camel, the ship of the desert, has a hump to store food and water as its habitat usually is dry land. Similarly, penguins which are aquatic, flightless birds use the shape of their body to dive into the water to find food and be safe from any predators. ()

When we talk about the habitat, have you heard about creatures whose appearance changes according to where they are. It is said that they have mastered the art of camouflage and mimicry which they use to hide from predators. ()

Some work from dawn to dusk to build their houses while others may just intrude. As we have heard, the cuckoo is one such parasitic bird which lays its eggs in the crows' nest to get their nestlings fed by crow parents. It is believed that some snakes too are parasitic. They live in hills which are built by termites. ()

At the same time it is impressive to see groups of animals get together to build incredible structures. Bee-hives, ant colonies are such fine examples. Have you seen the large number of bird nests built by entire flocks on one big tree? ()

Some creatures are blessed with their own shelter. The tortoise, the snail and the conch are a few such examples. Whenever they are threatened they swiftly hide inside their shell. Animal world is amazing. But we can see these wonders of nature, only if we are good observers. ()

- (A) Safety provided by their parts of the body
- (B) How they find food
- (C) How they live in harmony
- (D) Creatures that intrude
- (E) Flightless creatures
- (F) Protection from the predators

Test – 15

Read the following text and complete the tasks given below.

Every year on or around 22 September, cities across the globe celebrate World Car-Free Day, encouraging motorists to give up their cars for a day. The event highlights the numerous benefits of going car-free to citizens—including reduced air pollution and the promotion of walking and cycling in a safer environment.

The World Carfree Network says that the World Car-Free Day can be a showcase for just how our cities might look like, feel like, and sound like without car... 365 days a year.

Car-free days are an opportunity for cities to highlight how congested roads can be used in different ways. From races for alternative-energy powered vehicles, to horse-riding in to street picnics, to running, the people who live in them are stressing the alternatives to polluting vehicles on this important day.

UN Environment shines a light on those who are taking the lead in promoting sustainable lifestyles all year round. For instance, there is the story of “Better by bike” in Colombia whose goal is to convince the city’s inhabitants of the benefits of biking on health, exercise levels and air pollution.

Car-free days are a massive opportunity for cities to realize how much pollution affects our lives. Vehicle emissions are one of the main sources of outdoor air pollution, particularly in cities, according to the World Health Organization. Transport is also the fastest growing source of fossil-fuel CO² emissions, the largest contributor to climate change.

Vehicle emissions are the result of poor fuel quality and weak vehicle regulation around the world. The Partnership for Clean Fuels and Vehicles was launched by UN Environment to support countries address urban air pollution through the adoption of cleaner fuels and more efficient vehicle technologies and standards. It is recognized for successfully supporting countries to phase out leaded gasoline.
